Additional Have you ever wanted to give composting or worm farming a Info go? Are you keen to create 100% organic fertiliser products to maximise your garden's health and beauty? Composts and worm farms are a simple way to divert organic resources from landfill, allowing you to harvest and return the valuable nutrients from food and garden waste back into your very own backyard.

Join this FREE workshop and learn the basics of these important systems. Participants will have the opportunity to learn the ins and outs of backyard composting including how to set up, maintain and troubleshoot a compost bin and worm farm. Workshop attendees will also learn of the beneficial end use of the finished compost product and the value of diverting organic waste from landfill.
